The Stock market was quite active this morning with more disposition shown to deal on time. The bulk of the transactions, however, is still on time. The feeling was strong until the circulation of false ramon in regard to the suspension of the Bultimore Banks ereated some alarm among the timid operators, and prices fell off. The market became firmer after the discovery of the falsity of the rumors, but was still nnsettled. Between the Boards there was some weak wese, and at the Second Board considerable irregularity. although the Western Shares were generally bette The adjournment of the South Carolina Legislature and the more favorable commercial advices from the South, have evidently had a good influence, and brought in buyers from the outside public, but the improvement which might have followed has been checked by the stringency in the money market. The panic feeling has almost entirely disappeared, and the market now appeare to be governed by the usual influences. The bears do not act with much energy, and probably buy to cover more than they put out. It is conceded that the Stock market will be feverish and unsettled, certainly until after the South Carolina Convention, and that the political element will be more or less aggravated by the disturbance is commercial affairs consequent upon the agitation of the question of secession, but it is also generally felt that the decline has been in most cases quite as large as the circumstancee justify, and that any attempt to d procestocks further by the usual bear machinery might be dangerous and might return to plague the inventors. There is also a steady absorption of stock by parties who take the certificates out of the street, and this process must eventually arrest the decline by taking off the market the surplus shares. At the close in the street there was not much activity, and quotations were irregular. The thermometer of the market, Central, was down to 731 against 742 in the morning. In State Stocks Missouri & were better, but generally prices were lower. Railroad bonds are not active, but in some descriptions were better. The Eric issues improved. Exchange on New-York is becoming scarce. Sight rates are advancing: coin will cease moving this way, and the New-York Money market must become casier sext week.

St. John, Powers & Co.

We hear that sight exchange at New-Orleans is up to ! P cent discount.

The Hammonia takes out $50,000 in silver to-day. The drain of gold to the South is light, and as New-York exchange improves, must stop. From Boston, considerable parcels are coming, and the Money market at that point is very stringent, as much so as it was here two or three days since. The specie in the Boson Banks is now within $600,000 of the point below which they are not allowed to discount. The advices from Baltimore are more favorable, and the run on the banks thus far had not been important. The Pacific Bank has declared a dividend of 5 & cent. There is no change of importance in uncurrent money, but the brokers are setive. The discount on Southern banknotes is 3 to 10 P cent. We do not notice any further improvement is money matters, but paper, if anything. has rather less currency than yesterday. A few strictly prime names have been passed to-day at 8 29 $ cent, but what are usually considered first-class names have been sold as high as 11 a 12 ? cent. Jobbers and Commission-house paper 12 a 18 V cent. Even at the above high rates, parties who are driven into the street

by the refusal of their banks to discount, find it impos sible to place any considerable amount. On demand the supply of money is moderately free at 7 $\psi$ cent on choice collaterals. We hear of a sale of 6 $\psi$ cent Treasury Notes due in January at $\frac{1}{2}$ cent discount.

Those of lower rates of interest are unsaleable. The stockholders of the Mitwaukee and Mississipp Railroad Company are called upon to transfer their stock to the new Company, at the office of N. A. Cowdrey, No. 29 William street. The Cana' tolls for the first week of November were $112.021; for same time last year, $78,920: total increase in 1860, $1,180,567. The effects of the panic in Wall street have been seen in all departments of business during the past week, and the general Dry Goods trade presents no exception.

The transactions have been on a more limited scale than for any period since the revulsion of 1857. The demand for exportation to the South American Continent has been quite encouraging, and the deliveries have been quite important-as will be noticed by tables annexed. The news from China is important as it indicates a fresh opening of trade incident to the success of the Allies. The interior passes have hitherto been entirely in the hands of the rebels, who prevented the transmission of goods, but the taking of the forts reported will place commerce and trace in that section on a different basis. In view of this and the enhanced prices of Cotton, the makers of Drills are more firm in their views, although we can report no movement in the market. The Jobbing Houses have passed through a severe ordeal the past week in protecting their paper in the street, but we hear of no default, and as a class they are strong. Perhaps there is no body of merchants who have prosecuted their business on a more conservative scale mring the last two years than the New-York jobbers, and their business is not expanded as compared with former years. There are few houses that would be seriously affected even if the South should repudiate their debts, which is not to be expected. Few houses do an exclusive Southern business; it is generally divided into Northern, Western, and Southern districts, and the default in one section does not necessarily involve irreparable losses, as was proven in the history of the Western delinquences. Besides, the jobbers have adopted the cash and short time system with their largest customers, rather than the long credits which at one time were so much the enstom here. This has enabled them to anticipate their payments at all ordinary seasons, and as a consequence very little Dry Goods paper is on the market, and the liabilities of that class of merchants are relatively small. The system of note brokerage has done much to preserve the merchant from excessive expansions. His paper is generally made payable to his own order, and is sought after by the capitalist for investment, as well as by the banks, but the market for it must be protected, otherwise its currency would be stopped, and discredit ensue. This ystem is to the mercantile classes what the Clearing-House system is to the banks, and is one of the greatest checks to expansions and consequent revulsions that has ever been adopted, and to this more than any other cause may be attributed the present strength of the jobbers. At Philadelphia, The L-dger says:

The money market is a good deal troubled, and much difficulty is experienced in negotisting ordinary business paper at any rates without reason. Indeed, the street transactions in paper are now commed almost wholly to operations on call, at 627 P cent, mostly at the latter figure. There are occasional transactions in short A No. 1 bills, at 829 P cent. One P cent month would be given on paper that six weeks ago would have been gladly taken at 627 P cent. The banks are holding a stringent hand.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Monday evening says: There was a continued strong demand for currency today, chiefly for the pork trade, who are sending large sums into the country. Balance of course running down, and the banker's ite shaping their discount lines accordingly. While, therefore, there is an increasing demand for loans, facilities are not so liberal as they were a week ago. There are as yet no no complaints of a stringency, but the tendency is in this direction. The prevailing rate for good paper is 12 4° cent, being the inside and exceptional figure.

The Discount market, however, continues very inactive; in fact, there is no outside demand for paper, and the barden of accemmedation falls exclusively on the banks. Of course, they are not in a position to meet all the offerings, but a judicious discrimination of the most urgent wants enables them to grant party much all the meet all the offerings, but a judicious discrimination of the most urgent wants enables them to grant pretty much all the meet all that is required. INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN A JOINT. STOCK COMPANY, WHERE THE STOCK HAS BEEN PAIL

STOCK COMPANY, WHERE THE STOCK HAS BEEN PAID UP IN A TRANSFER OF A PATENT TO THE COMPANY.

James Bruce agt. Wan. S. Drigs.

The plaintiff sues as the assignee of a judgment recovered by Wm. H. Disbrow against the Wallace Plano-Forte Company for rest of No. 538 Broadway, to make the defendant individually responsible, as a stockholder in the Company, for its debts, on the ground that $173,000 of its $4700,000 stock was issued in payment for a patent. This was shown on the trial. The defendant moved for a non-suit, on the ground that the evidence offered by the plaintiff falled to show any bad faith in the payment by the Company of that amount for the purchase of the patent, and that by the amendment of 1853 a change was made to exomerate stockholders from individual liability, where the purchase was made in good faith.

The Court held that the action could not be sustained, and dismissed the complaint.

Robert Shields agt. Win. V. Brady.

This case comes before the Court upon an appeal from a judgment rendered at Special Term by Justic Davies in favor of the defendant, ex-Mayor Brady. The action grew out of a purchase of two lots of land on the south side of Twentieth street, in this city, 275 feet hig inches west of Avenne A, from the defendant, on the 2d day of March, 1838, at the Merchants Exchange, the sale being made by Adrian H. Muller, an auctioneer. It acrears that the purchase was made in good faith, and all defendant, on the 2d day of March, 1888, at the Merchants' Exchange, the sale being made by Adrian H. Mulier, an anotioneer. It appears that the purchase was made in good faith, and all preliminary conditions complied with, save the delivery of the deed. Prior to this the plaintiff, under advice of his counsel, had a survey of the premises made by Edward Ludlow, City Surveyor, who reported that the easterly wall of the house, on the lot adjoining the said premises on the west, encroached upon the lots purchased eight inches at the water table, and overhang the same at least one foot. This house was a four-story brick building, and belonged to one Thomas Butler. The two lots on the cast were owned by the defendant. This, the plaintiff claimed, constituted an incumbrance, and refused to pay the additional money due on the contract and to receive the deed which was duly tendered to him by the defendant.

The defendant afterward upon written notice to the plaintiff, resold the premises for a less sum than that agreed to be paid by the plaintiff, and charged him with the difference.

The plaintiff said charged him with the difference.

The plaintiff seeks, in this action, to be discharged from the purchase, and to receiver the same paid by him upon the contract prior to the survey, amounting in all to the sum of $697; and the defendant seeks a confirmation of the sale, together with a judgment for the smount of the difference in terms between the first and second sales, together with expenses of the second sale, &c. Upon the trial at Special Term, without a jury, Justice Davies found the facts substantially as above stated; and, as conclusions of law, that the deed tendered by the defendant to the plaintiff was a substantial compliance with the contract of sale made by the defendant with the plaintiff. It gave to the plaintiff all the land he purchased, removing the same only eight inches further east: that the plaintiff baving refused to complete his purchase, the defendant with the plaintiff of the sale, and he no

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.-Nov. 15.-Before TRIAL OF FRANCIS ENRIGHT FOR MURDER-VERDICT

TRIAL OF FRANCIS ENRIGHT FOR MURDER—VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

In the case of Francis Enright, who stands indicted, with Lorenzo Stewart, alaz. Stevens, for murder, the District Attorney moved for trial. The defendant is charged with causing the death of Baniel Horrigan, in August last, by judicting a wound upon him with a glass bottle. From the statement of Mr. Anthon, the Assistant-District Attorney, in opening the case, it appeared that Horrigan, accompanied by his brother and two other near, went to a liquor store, corner of Cedar and West streets, where a difficulty occurred between the barkeeper and Horrigan, when the prisoner and Stewart attacked him, and best him see as to cause his death.

Frederick Ryle testified that he was present at the liquor store on the Zoho of August last; when Enright came in a man named O'Brien was struggling with the prisoner; Enright interfered and strock the decreased several times with a tumbler, and kicked him in the head; Horrigan then crawled out; that was the last witness as we of him.

Cross-examined—The difficulty occurred ghout 5 o'clock in the aftersoon; Horrigan was duing nothing when Euright came in;

he can had struck Horrigan before, but Stevens had struck at him across the bar; it did not hit him; O'Brien was at this time-clinched with Stevens; the former belonged to Horrigan's party; the Horrigan, after the row comerced hit Thomas Enright with a glass, knocking him down; this was before Francis Enright came in they carried Thomas Enright out, and Francis came and said to Horrigan. "You are the man who struck my brother;" did not hear him ask for the "man who killed his brother;" witness was behind the counter all the time; after Stevens and Horrigan bad struck, the latter endeavored to get hold of some of the empty glasses; O'Brien had a sinng shot with which he his Stevens on the head; witness and Stevens are stended the bar; Horrigan was drunk at the time; witness saw Horrigan throw one bottle; was positive that Francis Enright struck Horrigan with a glass.

Patrick Horrigan testified that he was brother of the decessed;

Yas present during the affray; did not know the prisoner; was not certain he saw him that night; he might have been there;

and took O'Brien; Stevens ran on board of a propeller at the foot of the pier.

On cross-examination Horrigan stated that he saw Stevens strike his brother with a bottle, and while they were going out Stevens threw several bottles at them, but he did not recollect that they hit his brother; when they went in they got four drinks and witness counted ont 16 cents; he said it was four cents more; witness said that at such times he need not solud four cents; they had been to Wall street and only paid four cents of engager bier; he said he would have it out of them; my brother was "green;" I knew there was no use of disputing; he said. "You will, hey !" upon which Stevens struck him with a bottle, and witness took his brother out; witness then ran to show the policeman where Stevens had gone, and when he returned he saw his brother and O'Brien in the hands of the police; witnesseried out "Police," and pointed out Stevens as the man who had struck his brother.

Samuel B. Tuthill, Assistant Surgeon at the New York Hospital, described the wounds received by the deceased, and said he died of inflammation and abscess of the brain, produced by the wound on the skull.

James M. Smith, jr., counsel for the prisoner, offered no testimony for the defense.

After the summing up, and the charge' of the Judge, the Jury rendered a verdict of "Not Guilty," and the Court then adjournd.
